Departure of Steamers.

FOR COLLINGWOOD AND THE EAST.

The Collingwood Line of screw steamers leave—one every day, from Dousman's dock, foot of East Water st., connecting at Collingwood with cars from the East.

FOR BUFFALO.

Screw Steamers, with good accommodations for passengers, leave the different transportation docks every day for Buffalo.

FOR PORT WASHINGTON, &C.

The Steamer Gazelle leaves Johnson & Olmsted's Dock at 3 O'clock in the morning, for Port Washington, Sheboygan, Manitowoc and Two Rivers.

FOR CHICAGO, &C.

The steamer Traveller leaves Johnson & Olmsted's Dock every evening, at 9 o'clock, for Chicago and intermediate ports.

The Grain Trade.

Receipts of wheat yesterday were still larger than those of the previous day, amounting to 64,410 bushels, including flour, (58,390 lbs wheat, 1,201 bbls flour). To these figures might safely be added 3,000 bushels brought in by teams, making our total receipts of wheat not less than 67,000 bushels. The market was quite active, and yesterday's closing prices well sustained though the reports from the East were unfavorable. At New York flour was 5a10c lower and wheat ruled in favor of buyers. At Buffalo a dull and heavy market prevailed—for wheat at least.

The National Fair at Chicago.

In company with a number of our fellow-citizens, we took passage, Wednesday evening, on the good steamer Planet, for Chicago, and the United States Fair at that point. The City of Cleveland, with several hundred excursionists, had preceded us about an hour and a quarter, and when we started at 10 P. M., her lights had disappeared in the distance. The wind was blowing fresh from the Eastward and the Lake was quite rough, when we steamed out of the Straight Cut; but the Planet, minding neither wind, nor sea, held steadily on her course, and before mid-night had got within sight of the lights of the City of Cleveland. When we reached Kenosha the City was just leaving there, and before we got to Waukegan the Planet had taken the lead; arriving at Chicago an hour in advance. All on board were delighted with the speed, staunchness and comfortable accommodations of the Planet. She is undoubtedly the best and fastest boat on this Lake, excepting only the steamships Detroit and Milwaukee.

Chicago river looked narrow enough by comparison with Milwaukee river, but it was alive with tugs, lumber craft, grain vessels and steamers. On landing, we found the streets already well filled, the Hotels overflowing, and every hour adding its thousands to the number thronging from all quarters to see the National Fair. Over 1,200 persons slept in the Tremont House, Wednesday night, and 1,400 breakfasted there Thursday morning. All the other Public Houses were nearly as well patronized as the Tremont.—We found good quarters and excellent fare at the Richmond House. The Horse Railroad and the Illinois Central cars were the favorite conveyances to the Fair Grounds, which are located about three miles south from Lake Street. We tried the Illinois Central, and in ten minutes, for the consideration of ten cents, were at the Fair Grounds. During the day, the Illinois carried to the Grounds, between fifteen and sixteen thousand people.

The Fair Grounds are very well arranged and capable of accommodating an immense concourse of exhibitors and spectators. Yet their capacity, in this respect, was taxed to the utmost on Thursday. Not less than fifty thousand people visited the Fair during the day. The show did not strike us as so remarkable, or note-worthy a spectacle, as the out-pouring of the people. The display of Cattle was excellent, the best we ever saw. Of Horses, there was a goodly number, but not up to what we anticipated. The number and variety of Agricultural implements exhibited baffled all attempts to count, or describe them. The Steam Plow stood at the head of the list, and was surrounded all day with curious and admiring throngs. It promises to be a great institution. The show of Farm products, Vegetables, Fruit, &c., was good, but not extraordinary. Indeed, the exhibition, as a whole, did not come up to one's idea of a National Fair, but would have been highly creditable as a State Fair.

Nevertheless, so far as Chicago is concerned, the Fair was a great success. It filled up that city and kept it full, for nearly an entire week, with visitors of all degrees and from nearly every section of the Union. The Chicagoians were exceedingly hospitable to their guests; gave many of them "the freedom of the city," and ended by getting up a mammoth bon-fire, regardless of expense, for their benefit and entertainment. We hope that our fellow-citizens of Milwaukee will so far profit by the example of Chicago, as to make the like liberal and extensive preparations for our State Fair—which commences a week from next Monday. The Exhibition, we know, will be a very fine one, and all who come to it should be made welcome to Milwaukee.

THE GERMAN REPUBLICAN PRESS.—We copy elsewhere an article from the Atlas, of this city in reply to certain speculations of the Sham Democratic papers here and elsewhere, as to the probable course of the German Republicans of Missouri. The Atlas hoists the Republican State ticket.

A YACHT CAPSIZED AND TWO PERSONS LOST.—The screw steamer Northern Light arrived at her dock in this city from Lake Superior, night before last. She brings news of the capsizing of the yacht Dream, fifteen miles above Marquette, on Saturday night, in a gale. At the time of capsizing she was off Garlic River. The Captain and his sister were drowned, and the others, five in number, were saved.

A CURIOSITY.—A workman at the spoke factory of the Phœnix Works yesterday, while cutting a piece of oak, taken from the heart of an oak tree which grew in the wilds of Carroll Co., Md., found imbedded in it a penny of 1749. On one side is the head of the King, and the words "Georgius II Rex," and on the reverse "Brittania, 1749." The penny is battered on the edge, and evidently had been driven into the tree with a stone at the time the bark was soft. Bullets and other relics, which have been shot into trees during the Revolutionary War, are frequently found embedded in the wood which is brought to our manufacturers.—Newark Daily.

Terrible Conflagration at Chicago!

$500,000 OF PROPERTY DESTROYED!!

Ten Million Feet of Lumber Burnt!

Chicago was visited, on Thursday night, by the most disastrous conflagration that has ever occurred in that city. The fire broke out shortly after 8 o'clock P. M., and raged all night, tho' by 3 o'clock A. M., it had been got under control. We copy the following details from the Chicago Press & Tribune, of yesterday morning:

The fire broke out about 8,30 P. M., in a frame stable on Canal street, near the corner of Lake street, owned and occupied by F. Mehring & Co., ice dealers. A high wind was blowing at the time from the south-east, and the flames were swept into the heart of the block which was occupied by high piled stacks of lumber, timber, &c., and also by very closely ranged wooden buildings, sheds, outhouses, workshops, &c. By such material fed, before the Fire Department had got well at work an immense volume of heat and flame was being driven north and west, which swept everything in its course along the Lake street and Canal street fronts. The latter were mostly small buildings of little value, the former were chiefly one and two story structures, and occupied by saloons, small stores, &c., &c., until midway of the block began the large Milwaukee brick structure, the Cleveland House. This with the Clinton House on the corner was destroyed.

Crossing Clinton street, the devouring element laid in ruins the Cochrane House, a six story marble front building, owned by J. W. Cochrane, Esq. Also the Hydraulic Mills, a four story stone structure, owned by Mr. Monroe, and occupied by Mr. Mitchell, and E. W. Blatchford's extensive Lead Works.—The fire then spread to the adjoining block, destroying the Reformed Presbyterian Church, of which Rev. Robert Patterson is pastor, and a row of good dwelling houses adjoining.—How far the fire will extend, we cannot definitely state at the time of going to press; but there is little doubt that the entire four blocks which are described will be in ruins.

The Cochrane House was an elegant six-story structure, of the first class in hotel architecture, and finished and erected some three years since, by J. W. Cochrane, Esq. It was six stories in height and fronted on Lake street, just west of Clinton street. It was of Athens marble front, and thoroughly appointed and finished for hotel business of the first order. In fact, it was too good and too much in advance of that immediate section of the city, to have proved a profitable investment of the outlay—nearly $60,000 we believe—and it had for some time stood unoccupied. It was finished below for stores on its Lake street front. The fire commenced its work upon this fine structure at the roof, and thence, far above the reach of the firemen, it ate its way down into the heart of the building, totally destroying it.

An ell from the Cochrane House, of equal height with the main edifice, extended east with the main building, to Canal street, thus forming an angle on the corner of the streets, occupied by a three story brick building, eighty feet on either street. This, occupied by various tenants, was also destroyed.

Next west of the ell of the Cochrane House, was the stone structure occupied as the Hydraulic mills. This was completely gutted.

The Chicago Lead Works, of E. W. Blatchford, were erected in 1856, at a cost of about $40,000. It was the largest establishment of the kind in the West, if not in the United States, and in a manufacturing point of view, was one of the chief ornaments of the city.—Besides the buildings, there were destroyed 500 barrels of linseed oil, machinery, lead, lead-pipe, sheet lead, &c., to the value of upwards of $60,000. The business carried on was immense, for besides manufacturing upwards of 100,000 pigs lead annually into lead pipe, sheet lead, &c., they were extensive dealers in shot of all kinds. The engine is spoken of as being one of the finest in the West, and their machinery was of the most perfect character in every particular.

The building itself was very fine, having been constructed without regard to expense, and in a most durable manner, as all who witnessed the scorching it received before it fell can testify.

One thing with regard to it, however, had been overlooked. There were no iron shutters on it—a strange mistake, when its position to the lumber yards opposite, is taken into consideration. It is not too much to state, that had the windows been securely closed by iron frames and shutters, the Chicago Lead Works might have been saved, and the limits of the fire lessened.

* * * * *

On the north, from the northwest corner of North Canal and Fulton, the fire communicated to the extensive lumber yard of Ryerson, Miller & Co., destroying 2,500,000 feet of lumber, valued at $25,000 and insured for $12,000 to $14,000; thence to the hard wood lumber yard of Sutherland, destroying his stock, valued at $10,000, and insured for 3,400; Walter Lull's lumber yard, adjoining on the North, he having about 2,000,000 ft. of lumber, valued at $10,000, with some insurance, but how much we cannot learn.—The machine shop of Mason & Co., next to the corner of Carrol and North Canal street; the Blue Bonnet House on the corner, with a large number of tenements.

From Reyerson's lumber yard it communicated to the Vulcan works of Warrington and McArthur; thence to the Vulcan boiler works, destroying the block bounded by Fulton, North Jefferson, Carrol and Clinton streets. On this block was the Reformed Scotch Presbyterian Church, and a number of good dwellings; on Jefferson street the packing-house of Phillips & Co; the planing mill belonging to E. A. Rucker, together with a number of other buildings belonging to the same gentlemen, whose entire loss is $7,500 and no insurance. There were a number of other valuable buildings on this street, but we could not learn who their occupants were.

At the time of going to press it seemed as if the fire might be confined within the limits of the four blocks described. It may spread farther and prove more destructive, but we trust not.

It is impossible to determine, at this hour, anything; but take the actual amount of property destroyed, we think we are not greatly out of the way in placing it at HALF A MILLION OF DOLLARS. It may prove more than this—we hope it may prove less; of course, anything like the amount of insurance on the property cannot be known in time for our present issue.

By 1 o'clock A. M. the fire, after destroying five entire blocks, was got under control, though it was still burning and the engines at work, when the morning train for Milwaukee, by the Lake Shore R. R., left there yesterday morning. The steam and hand fire engines did good service, but the high wind and the drouth which has so long prevailed, making everything as dry as tinder, rendered the efforts of the engines of little avail.

A FAMOUS SPELLING MATCH.—A gentleman in North Chester, Vermont, two or three weeks since, offered as a prize, a copy of Webster's "Unabridged Dictionary" to the one of the scholars in all the public schools in town who should "spell all the others down." Seven schools were accordingly represented, and about a dozen teachers and a large crowd of spectators were present when the trial took place, on the 25th ult. Only one trial was to be had on a word, and the unfortunate who missed must take his or her seat. Eighty scholars contested for the honor and the prize, and after five hours' trial, five pupils remained standing, and the enthusiastic audience soon raised the needful to purchase each a copy of the great "Unabridged."

A TOMAHAWK FOUND INSIDE A SAW-LOG.—The Messrs. Gibson who own a saw mill in the neighborhood of Caledonia, Canada, were engaged a few days ago in sawing a pine log about two feet and a half in diameter, when an unusual screeching of the saw attracted their attention. They examined the cause of the noise, and found in the center of the log an Indian tomahawk, in the eye of which was a piece of rotton wood a part of its former handle. The log was otherwise perfectly sound.

THE Congregational Society of Clinton, N. Y., has brought an action against E. S. Hoskiss, to recover the rent of a slip which defendant occupied during an entire year. The defendant made no contract with the trustees; he did not bid off the annual rental; but it appears that the appraisal of the slip was publicly posted in the vestibule. They seek to recover on an implied contract. The defence is, that no one can be compelled to pay for hearing the Word of God, unless a special contract has been made. The trial is not yet concluded.

GRAY hairs, like honest friends, are often cast from us for telling unpleasant truths.

THE CITY.

The Wisconsin State Fair

Takes place at Milwaukee, Sept. 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th and 30th. All the Railroads carry passengers at HALF FARE and articles for exhibition FREE. Hotels have agreed to charge ONLY THEIR REGULAR RATES.—Grounds in good order, amply provided with the necessary sheds, pens, &c., for the use of exhibitors, and less than a mile from the heart of the city. The promise of a very fine show of Cattle, Horses, Agricultural implements, &c., was never better. During the Fair Week, there will be a Military Parade, a Firemen's Tournament, a Grand Regatta on the river, a Balloon Ascension, Running and Trotting Matches, Theatrical and Operatic Performances, &c. Particulars in future announcements.

Dedication of a Synagogue—Interesting Ceremonies.

Yesterday a very large crowd congregated about the new Jewish Synagogue, on Fifth street, between Cedar and Wells streets, to witness the dedication ceremonies.

The edifice is very plain outside, but neat and substantial, with the audience room raised about ten feet above the walk, and reached by a flight of steps in front. The decorations opposite the organ gallery, and above the speakers desk are showy and somewhat different from the Gentile idea of church decoration. Three arches, covering almost the entire end wall of the room, one large, occupying the centre and enclosing the shrine behind the pulpit, the other two are smaller, and placed on either side, resting on pillars of Sienna marble and enclosing false niches painted with a bright blue pigment. Under the centre arch, and screening the vestibule or shrine where the Scrolls are kept, hangs a heavy crimson velvet curtain, fringed with gold, and bearing in Hebrew characters the inscription, "From SARAH ADLER wife of SOLOMON ADLER," and immediately over these lines is a spread eagle with the American shield, and stars and stripes.

On this occasion the arches were festooned with evergreens and flowers, and large wreaths hung from the gallery.

At half past two, the procession entered the Synagogue. Twenty-four young ladies in white, bearing wreaths, passed up the aisle, followed by a number of boys, and four old men, bearing the Scrolls of the Holy Law, encased in silk bags. After them came the committee of arrangements and trustees. As they made a circuit of the Synagogue, the choir sung Mah. Tobo Numere 24, 5.

The third time the Scrolls were carried around, the girls at the altar distributed flowers as the procession came up, sprinkling the floral treasure at the feet of the Scrol bearers. The Sacred Law was then deposited in the Arch. The choir singing Shema Deuteronium Chopter 6, 4.

Rev. Dr. J. KALISH immediately afterward proceeded to deliver a sermon in the German language, which occupied an hour and five minutes.

Rev. Dr. J. M. WISE, of Cincinnati, followed in English. His sermon is entirely too long for our columns. It was an able effort, commencing with a touching allusion to Mount Moriah, which the speaker identified with every tabernacle to the "one great God," and at its close he specially dedicated the "reader," the pulpit, the desk, the chorus, the children and the congregation. The entire ceremonies occupied three hours, and a great throng pressed about the doors and front of the church during the whole time.

The Art of Extempore Speaking.

HINTS FOR THE PULPIT, THE SENATE AND THE BAR, by M. PAULDING, with additions by a member of the New York Bar. New York, CHARLES SCRIBNER, 124 Grand Street. Milwaukee, TERRY & CLEAVES.

The ambitious aspirant after forensic honor, who, possessed of intelligence, sensibility and imagination, allowed his friends to thrust him on the public stand, will remember to his dying day the peculiar sensations attending that debut. There was a wholesome sense of the necessity of being calm and deliberate—there was a good share of abstract confidence in his own ability, mingled with a very confused apprehension of something.—He will remember how strange his own voice sounded as he broke the "expectant air," and how what he asserted in his exordium, he contradicted in his peroration, or how his deliberation became grounded on confusion, and words that danced before his eyes refused to obey his tongue, and how, after saying a great many things with ill-matched fervor and mis-placed pathos, he finally sat down with an overwhelming conviction that he was pitied by his friends and laughed at by his enemies. That young man, very probably instantly resolved never to attempt to improvise a speech again, and so far kept his resolution as to write out and memorize, ever afterwards, his thoughts and feelings for the public. How often do we hear young men say, I have no talent for extempore speaking, I can write my thoughts rapidly, but cannot extemporize them; and those young men, as with the example we have given, are endowed with the requisite qualities for good public speakers. They have keen sensibilities, fertile and quick imaginations, a good command of the vernacular, and decisive wills, else could they not write with success. The point seems to be here. That hundreds who attempt extempore speaking and fail, do so rather from ignorance of the essential principles of the art, than from any lack of faculty. They fail from not knowing the method—from a want of special intellectual training for the service, as essential in this as in every other department of Art. The novitiate will feel sensibly the want of a plan—the lack of comprehension arising from his not having made himself master of the business. He cannot tell whether he will do this or that—he leaves it to inspiration—and inspiration, not being held by the bridle of Art, deserts him.

Mr. BATEMAN'S book professedly teaches HOW TO SPEAK EXTEMPORANEOUSLY; of course there are thousands who cannot be taught by any book to express themselves clearly and continuously. But there are many who need only the guidance of such a monitor to become speakers. We refer them to the book itself: it abounds in no School Speakers, examples of declamation; it is simply a plain system of directions to train the thought, the mind and the expression to the work of delivery. It abounds in admirable precepts, and treats of the speaker in all his phases. Let the lawyer, the divine and the politician purchase it, and read it attentively, it will repay perusal in more than one sense.

WHAT A PICKLE!—R. J. Chewing, of Castle Rock, brought to town a pickle three feet four inches in length. It is called a Massassuger cucumber, and when full grown they are much larger.—Hastings (Minn.) Ledger.

Milwaukee can beat that pickle and not half try. We saw at ALDRICH'S vegetable market, on Mason street, yesterday a "Massassuger cucumber," five feet three inches long; and Mr. ALDRICH tells us that he has some at home over six feet long.

BALLOON ASCENSION DURING THE FAIR.—We learn that Professor STEINER, the very successful Æronaut, will be here with his mammoth balloon, during State Fair week, and will give a grand ascension from the Fair grounds. The spectacle will no doubt attract a multitude of lookers-on.

TO BUSINESS MEN.

PREPARE FOR THE STATE FAIR!

Now is the time to hand in your Advertisements. The arrangements for the State Fair are in rapid progress and we may expect an unusual influx of visitors from all parts of Wisconsin and adjoining States.

The regular issue of THE SENTINEL is more than DOUBLE that of any other Daily in Milwaukee, rendering it, by great odds, the most desirable Advertising medium in the city. As we have recently REDUCED OUR PRICES, all classes of Business Men can avail themselves of our columns, and at very low rates.

During Exhibition Week a very large extra edition of THE SENTINEL will be printed daily and circulated on all the PUBLIC CONVEYANCES LEADING TO THE CITY, AND AMONG STRANGERS VISITING THE FAIR GROUNDS.

☞ Those desiring Cards, Circulars, Posters, Fly Bills, or any description of Printing, will find it to their advantage to call at the SENTINEL Job Rooms and leave their orders.

Our facilities for Job Printing are UNEQUALLED in the city, and our PRICES HAVE BEEN REDUCED so low that every Business Man can avail himself of Printer's Ink, during Fair Week, at a very small cost.

Persons wishing to SAVE MONEY, and have their orders quickly and neatly executed, will not fail to GIVE US A CALL!

The State Fair.

We would suggest to those visiting the State Fair, that they look up their BOOKS and MAGAZINES, that need BINDING, and bring them in to the SENTINEL BINDERY. We are doing this class of binding very cheap, and in the best style. We are also manufacturing BLANK BOOKS to order, very low. Call and see.

NEW FIRE ENGINE.—A new engine for Washington Fire Company No. 3, purchased by a committee of the company at Chicago, arrived yesterday morning, and was drawn through the streets by the members, preceded by a band of music. The new machine is similar, in dimensions and power, to the Engine of Neptune Co. No. 2, and being in the hands of an active and wide-awake set of men, will no doubt prove an addition to our Fire Department.

PERSONAL.—Ex-Governor SEYMOUR, of New York, who has been spending some time in our city, looking after the Fox and Wisconsin Rivers Improvement, in which he is largely interested, left for the East, at noon yesterday, by the Detroit & Milwaukee R. R. route.

SPIRITUALISM.—ELDER WARREN will Lecture at Good Templars' Hall, near the Custom House, on Sunday, at 3 and 7 1-2 o'clock. Subject: Modern Spiritualism compared with the Ancient Spiritualism of the Bible. The public are respectfully invited.

BAMFORD & BALDWIN, at the M. & M. Depot, keep all Eastern Dailies and Weeklies, Harper's Monthly, the Atlantic and Ballou's. They furnish the latest news ahead of mail, and can supply the SENTINEL to all who desire it.

THIS MORNING at 10 o'clock CALEB WALL has a sale of good, sound family apples; also bonds of the Beloit & Milwaukee Railroad. Read his advertisement. He offers to exchange a good farm for goods, &c., &c.

FINE SHOW OF MEATS.—Mr. CREMMET at his market on Milwaukee street, one door north of the Post Office, makes a fine display of meats this morning. Epicures and housekeepers will do well to give him a call.

SHORT BUSINESS PAPER negotiated at regular rates; some first class mortgages for sale. School Land certificates wanted, by SAM'L I. BRIDGE, under the Newhall House, Michigan street.

SENTINEL READING ROOM.

WE have opened in connection with our new Counting Room, 207 East Water st., a Reading Department, where all the leading Daily Papers in the United States and Canada are regularly placed on file, for the benefit of those who may wish to see them. Strangers visiting the city are invited to avail themselves of our "Free Reading Room" at their pleasure.

The Convention adjourned with hearty cheers.

Drowning of P. S. O'Connor at Niagara Falls.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.

The Rochester Union furnishes the following particulars in regard to the drowning of P. S. O'Connor, who was to have leaped 90 feet at Niagara Falls on the 14th:

He left this city Saturday eve for the Falls, to make arrangements for his leap. There was little or nothing known of the man there, and some thought he would not make his appearance. He went there, however, and announced his purpose to jump from a scaffold to be erected by the river side, at White's pleasure grounds near where Blondin's rope was suspended. Yesterday morning he went down to the water for the purpose of ascertaining its depth, to determine where he would erect his scaffold. He was accompanied by several men in skiffs to assist him—O'Connor swam out into the river and dived once or twice. He then went down in a small whirlpool, and rose to the surface, but could not escape from the current, which drew him down, and so he sank to rise no more. The men in the boats could not reach him, and nothing could be done. His body no doubt immediately drifted into the great whirlpool, and may sometime be found near the mouth of the river, or in Lake Ontario. This is all that relates to his adventure at the Falls. He left his clothes and a few effects to be delivered to his friends when they appear.

Massachusetts Democratic State Convention.

WORCESTER, Mass, Sept. 16—3 P. M.

The Democratic Convention nominated Gen. Benj S. Patton, of Lowell, for Governor, and Stephen O. Beemis, of Springfield, for Lieut. Governor.

The following no minations were also made: Secretary of State, Samuel W. Bowen, of Adams; Treasurer, Geo. Demarest; Auditor, Jas. E. Eastbrook, of Worcester; Attorney General, D. H. Mason, of Dedham.

Caleb Cushing, Isaac Davis, Oliver Stevens and James S. Whitney, are chosen delegates to the Charleston Convention. It is said that all favor the claims of Senator Douglas for the Presidency.

The resolutions adopted recognize the principles of popular sovereignty, though endorsing the present administration.

Excitement at Salt Lake.

BOSTON, Sept. 15—3 P. M.

The correspondent of the Traveler, writing from Camp Floyd, under date of Aug. 18th, describes the assassination of First Sergeant, Ralph Pike of the 10th Infantry, who was shot in front of the Salt Lake Hotel by a Mormon. Spencer, the murderer, had made his escape. Pike's funeral was attended by three Regiments of infantry, the officers of each Regiment being in full uniform, &c., and by General Johnson. Several other assassinations are charged on the Mormons.—Great excitement exists.

Balloon Ascension.

OSWEGO, Sept. 16—3 P. M.

Mr. S. M. Brooks, of St. Louis, ascended in his balloon Comet, from the Fair grounds, in this village, at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and descended eleven miles east, at twenty minutes after six. Five thousand persons witnessed the ascension.

BY LAST NIGHT'S REPORT

Washington Matters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—9 P. M.

The late convention between Great Britain and the republic of Guatemala has not excited a renewal of angry controversy between this country and Great Britain as was recently predicted by the English press; on the contrary, both Governments are still animated by the hope that the Central American differences will be happily adjusted. The larger part of the Balize had never been the subject of actual survey, as was officially declared by Lord Grey, in 1836, and the above mentioned convention, it is said, merely definitely fixes its territorial limits, which act was intended by Guatemala as a barrier to British encroachments on its soil. This arrangement is claimed to be in accordance with the Dallas-Clarendon treaty, a clause of which is to this effect substantially.

While the treaty itself was defeated by that body, because of a clause therein of anti-slavery character, the other points proposed to be settled in the same treaty, viz: with regard to the Island of Rowtan, and the surrender of the Mosquito protectorate to Nicaragua, will be placed in charge of Mr. Whipple, the new British Minister, and it is thought that these questions will be adjusted by him to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, Great Britain having undertaken to remove those obstructions to the full force of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

If any dissatisfaction exists, it is because Great Britain has first settled it, which is of the most importance to her

The German Republicans.

The News quotes the Manitowoc Demokrat in saying that the late Republican State Convention "was ruled by the Know Nothings, and that RANDALL, for three months before, had been traveling over the State, appealing to the Know Nothings to support him, and that he belongs to that order himself." If the Demokrat has made any such statements, it is either grossly deceived itself, or is deceiving others. There is no truth in either allegation. The pretence that "Know Nothingism" controlled the Republican State Convention is simply ridiculous. There is not enough of that element in all Wisconsin to control even a town caucus. The assertion that Gov. RANDALL "appealed to Know Nothings to support him and belongs to the order himself," are without the slightest foundation. The "order" in this State was a feeble affair at its birth and is long since dead and buried. In short this whole talk about Know Nothingism, is a shallow political trick, annually resorted to by the Sham Democratic organs, to influence the prejudices of our adopted fellow-citizens, but annually exercising less and less influence over them.

The News adds, on its own responsibility, that "the Manitowoc Demokrat will not support the Republican ticket;" that but "one German Republican paper in the State supports RANDALL," and that "the others oppose him most decidedly, and will do all in their power to defeat him." We are entirely content that the News should base its hopes of success, next November, upon such grounds as the above. It will probably discover, the day after election, how woefully it was mistaken. We know of three German Republican papers in the State that heartily support RANDALL, and we confidently expect all of them do the same. It is true that they were disappointed in the result of the nomination for Governor, but they know that the Convention was a perfectly fair one, that it represented the undoubted sentiments of the great majority of the Republican Party, and that the ticket selected is fairly entitled to the earnest, hearty and united support of all who profess Republican principles, or desire to maintain the Republican ascendancy. The German Republicans of this State will follow the lead and example of their able and eloquent countryman, CARL SCHURZ, who supports the Republican ticket frankly and unreservedly, and in so doing, they will not only pay him the best compliment and render him the most essential service in their power, but will show to the Sham-Democracy that their devotion to principle cannot be shaken by any mere personal considerations.

A "Screw Loose" Somewhere.

The following card, addressed "to whom it concerns," appears in the News of yesterday morning:

NEWHALL HOUSE, }
MILWAUKEE, Sept. 15, 1859. }

My services having been retained to conduct the political department of the National, a paper of recent appearing in this city, I consider it but just to all concerned, to state that my connection with the establishment ceased, before the appearance of the first number; and therefore, that I am neither connected with, or responsible for, the contents of the same.

Of the three prospectuses announcing the publication of the National, each giving it a different political complexion, I have but nothing to do with any but the first, which promised a paper "devoted to the interests of the Democratic party the arts of industry, business, literature and news;" which promised to be "Democratic in its best sense; and which would be earnest support to the Administration of James Buchanan—to all regular nominations—advocating the principles, and adhering strictly and faithfully to the usages and customs of the National Democratic party."

G. W. D. ANDREWS.

NOTE.—Such papers as are in the receipt of the National, will confer a favor by publishing the substance of the above explanation, as above signed by G. W. D. A.

The News calls attention to this card in the following churlish paragraph:

G. W. D. ANDREW'S CARD.—At the request of Mr. Andrews we publish this morning his card, in which he denies that he is connected with a certain morning paper.

A "certain morning paper," indeed! If the statement of Mr. ANDREWS is correct that the National has issued "three prospectuses, each giving it a different political complexion," we should call it a very uncertain paper. It does not yet appear who succeeds Mr. ANDREWS in the delicate and responsible task of editing the National and defending the Administration of Mr. BUCHANAN.

MINNESOTA POLITICS.—The Hartford Press says that a private letter from St. Paul, of Sept. 2nd, from a gentleman well qualified to judge, expresses an opinion, speaking as one of "the great Democratic party," that "the Blacks are going to whip us awfully." He thinks the days of that party in Minnesota are numbered, and adds, "Electioneering is carried on briskly, both parties having speakers from the East, and the only difference from former times is, that argument is taking the place of whisky—only because their candidates are too short of change to treat much." Good for Minnesota.

THE ERIE RAILROAD.—CHARLES MINOT, who has been appointed by the Receiver, General Superintendent of the Erie Railroad, formerly held the same position on that road, and was regarded at that time as one of the most competent men for the position in the country. He is a Maine man, and for many years has occupied positions of responsibility in other of the prominent railway lines of the country. The Receiver has evinced proper spirit in placing the police of the road and its executive departments in hands so entirely competent to grapple with its requirements.

BUSINESS FAILURES IN BOSTON.—We regret to learn from the Boston Courier of several cases of financial embarrassments in that city on Saturday; that the enterprising publishers, PHILLIPS, SAMPSON & CO., are in trouble, and were obliged to suspend payment. The recent death of the two leading members of the firm, coupled with the Atlantic Monthly load, has naturally embarrassed the operations of the young partners.—Several shoe firms also failed on Saturday.—The principal parties are L. E. WAITE & Co., T. C. WEBB & Co., and Charles PARKER.—Other houses fell in consequence.

THE TERRITORIAL SLAVERY QUESTION.

Judge Black on the Late Popular Sovereignty Manifesto of Judge Douglas.

The Constitution of Saturday publishes a reply to Senator DOUGLAS' views on Popular Sovereignty—filling six columns of that paper, and understood to be from the pen of the Attorney General, Judge BLACK.

The New York Times says:

It is clear in its style, temperate in tone and exceedingly forcible and cogent in argument. The position presented in this article as that of the Democratic Party, is that Slaves are recognized by the Federal Constitution as property in States where the local law so treats them; that they remain property when taken into any State of which the local law does not forbid their being so regarded; that Congress has no right to deprive their owners of this property, in the territories or other places under its jurisdiction; and that as it cannot delegate a power which it does not possess, neither the Legislature nor the people of a Territory have any authority to prohibit Slavery within its borders. It concedes, however, that when they come to form a State Constitution, they may establish, or prohibit Slavery as they see fit. Until then they have no power whatever over the subject.

The positions of the article in the Constitution are stated with great clearness and precision, and leave no room for misunderstanding or controversy as to their meaning. Its ability and the cogency of some of its extracts from former speeches of Judge Douglas, will probably constrain him to take some notice of it.

THE NEW YORK HERALD publishes the reply of Judge BLACK, and in an editorial notice gives the main points of the review.—The Herald says:

The work undertaken in this connection by Judge Black is to show: first, that Mr. Douglas "has not correctly stated the doctrines" held by his democratic opponents; and secondly, "that his own opinions, as given himself, are altogether unsound." Upon the first point, in reply to the assertion of Mr. Douglas, that "a portion of the democratic party believe, or profess to believe, that the constitution established slavery in the Territories," Judge Black says that the constitution does no such thing—that "nobody in the country ever thought or said so;" but he pleads that the constitution does establish the right on the part of the legal owner of a slave or other property to go with it into a federal Territory without forfeiting his title." Upon this proposition the whole question hinges, and the clear, consistent and common sense argument of Mr. Black in support of this right of property, will compel the fair to press the reader with the slippery nature of the ground occupied by the Illinois Senator.

The exact point of difference between the two learned Judges, in their premises is here—Judge Douglas holds that a Territorial Legislature, by "friendly or unfriendly legislation," may admit slavery into the Territory or exclude it therefrom. Judge Black contends that no such power is vested in a Territorial Legislature, and that those who desire to confiscate private property of any kind must wait until they get a Constitutional Convention, or the machinery of a State Government into their hands."

The Buffalo Republic, a leading DOUGLAS organ, regards Judge BLACK's manifesto as "the opening by the Administration of a well-considered plan of attack" on Senator DOUGLAS' principles, and adds:

Indeed the Constitution in an editorial of the same day claims that the article is a powerful vindication of the true Democratic doctrine. This being the case, Senator Douglas can only be regarded as a disorganizer, and is by the argument fully read out of the party, as well as all who sympathize with him and his doctrines. It looks plain to us that the Administration intends to make a fierce and vigorous war on him, and that we should be but following the present disposition to crush him out and prevent his nomination at the Charleston Convention. We regard the issue as one clearly between the people and the Administration, let the issue be met. We are harnessed for the contest, and come what may come, we shall be found fighting beside the "Little Giant," first, last, and all the time.

The News of yesterday, also takes issue with the Administration, on this point, and sides with DOUGLAS against BUCHANAN. The National, on the other hand, denounces DOUGLAS and his heresy after the following fashion:

Douglas' hobby is squatter sovereignty; that is, any number of inhabitants of a territory may, by the territorial legislature, prevent a man from holding his slave. This is designated as Hobby Gray, as it suits the mixed class who recognize blacks as equal to whites. This Hobby Douglas is riding through the country and exhibiting with as much jockeyism, as was practiced by the grooms in showing off their horses at the militia musters in New York State, in former days. The principles, and the performance, in endeavoring to humbug the people, is of a piece with the hard cider and coonskin campaign. It is scarcely a decent after-piece to the humbug campaign about Kansas, of 1856.

Now can the National, or the News tell us where their "Oily Gammon" candidate for Governor stands on this new issue. Is he for the "Black," or the "Gray Hobby?"—Does he follow DOUGLAS, or adhere to BUCHANAN? Is he for "Squatter Sovereignty," or "Congressional Intervention?" Let us hear from him early on the stump, upon these points—for they are to be the live issues of the next Presidential campaign.

SPECIE EXPORTS.—The exports of specie from New York to foreign ports for the week ending the 10th inst. were $2,363,185—making a total since January 1, 1859, of $51,956,845; same time in 1858, $18,039,237; same time in 1857, $22,551,183, same time in 1856, $24,511,403; same time in 1855, $23,408,704; same time in 1854, $26,152,591; same time in 1853, $14,841,141; same time in 1852, $28,775,311.

Vain Hopes.

From the Atlas, of Sept. 16th.

We notice from the Illinois Staats Zeitung that the Chicago Times is flattering itself with the hope that the German Republicans of Wisconsin, will return to the Democratic camp.

Without mentioning that "a return is an impossibility," with that part of our German Republicans, who have never been under the leaky, shingle-patched roof of the Democratic shanty, we would observe that nobody among us is even dreaming of abandoning the principles and sentiments of Republicanism, to join the slave-catching Democracy. True it may be, that in some quarters, dissatisfaction has arisen about certain matters of recent date, but it is an insult to these men, for the Times to believe them capable of going over to the Sham-Democracy.

Though some individuals may have rendered themselves unpalatable to a part of the party; though some single action of a part of a Convention does not meet the approval of all; what has that to do with the principles which the German Republicans profess?—Though they might have just reasons to regret this or that act of the party management, they would certainly never find it in accordance with conscience, on account of any such disappointment, to give their support to a party which is the party of slavery and retrogression.

If in the space of a few weeks such a change could be effected, our Republicanism, our Republican faith must have been a sham from the beginning, for men do not throw aside deliberately chosen principles except by the force of convincing reasons derived from better information.

If the Times can enlighten us more, if it can prove that it is wrong to belong to the anti-slavery party, if it is able to convince us that one can belong to the Democracy without smiting Reason and Liberty in the face—then our new and better convictions will probably make us associates with the Times.—But to ask that, on account of the matters we have referred too, we should become proslavery Democrats is a request only possible to be made by a Democratic paper which has no conception of or regard for such a thing as constancy to principles.

If the Times wishes to increase its party, if it wants to recruit the numbers of that party to have more votes for the Niggerocracy, it need not appeal to the German Republicans of Wisconsin.

The Times has miscalculated; we can conclude no such bargain, and the Times will do well to spare us in future, such suppositions and such offers. We shall make common cause with the Democracy just as much and just as little, as with sharks, both of which we consider destitute of every good quality, and both we think the world would very gladly be rid off.

HOW FREE TRADE BENEFITS AMERICAN LABOR.—During eight months of the present year, ending Sept. 1st, we have shipped to Europe fifty-two millions of dollars in gold and silver—equal to one hundred and thirty tons of gold. The total exports during the year are estimated to reach seventy millions of dollars, all to pay for British manufactured articles, and all of which would have gone into the pockets of American laborers and manufacturers, but for the Democratic free trade policy. We import annually from Cuba thirty-five millions worth of sugar, upon which we impose a duty of twenty-five per cent.—for the benefit of Louisiana—and export to Cuba seven or eight thousand barrels of flour, upon which Spain imposes a duty of nine and a half dollars per barrel. England collects annually upon our exports of tobacco, twenty-three millions of dollars, and we import annually into New York alone, almost two hundred millions of dollars worth of dutiable goods, and eighty millions worth of free goods. For most of this we are compelled to send to Europe gold and silver, as they will only take our produce in exchange when their own crops fail. A tariff that would foster and aid and help to build up American manufacturers, would have kept a large portion of this amount at home, to be distributed among American laborers, and mechanics, and manufacturers, and to stimulate all branches of industry. Is there a laborer in the Union, so blind as not to see that this free trade policy of keeping our workshops in Europe, that we may have a foreign market for our produce, is fatal to their interests? If the doctrine were carried out to its legitimate results, there would not be a manufacturing establishment in the United States, and the larger portion of our population would be compelled to be agriculturalists. Would this result to the benefit of American laborers?—Detroit Advertiser.

Cruising Eastward.

LUDLOW, VT., Sept. 7th 1859.

DEAR READERS OF THE "SENTINEL":—According to previous arrangement, I have finally seated myself with a determination of permitting nothing to interrupt me in giving in detail an expose of my wanderings since I left the "City of Bricks," and writing a few of my impressions on visiting the places of interest "en route."

"It was a blessed Summer day" in the latter part of August that your correspondent —released from the routine and confinement of business, and the suffocating dust of the streets—stepped aboard the propeller Fountain City, bound for Collingwood and the East.

It is unnecessary for me to describe how the resistless power of steam urged our ponderous habitation forth upon the mighty deep; but we were soon sensible of the fact that we were really leaving home and friends, and that the distance separating us from all our domestic interests was rapidly increasing.—So farewell to the homestead, and family circle with all its endearments, to kind friends who ever greet you with a cheerful smile and a hearty welcome—farewell to the prairies and fertile fields, the dusty streets, and crowded marts; to all the associations connected with a five years acquaintance with the Badger State, while I sojourn for a season in the valleys, and amid the mountains of (locally speaking) the Orient.

Milwaukee, as all are aware, who have viewed her from the bay, presents a fine appearance to the maritime traveler. The Newhall House, the Churches, the Asylum and the handsome private residences on the Northeast, and West sides are quite suggestive of the taste, intelligence and wealth that gave them existence.

After the city had fairly receded from view, and the novelty of being again "on the swelling bosom of the mighty deep" had somewhat worn off, my attention was naturally turned to an inspection of my temporary abode, and my compagnons du voyage. The Fountain City is the largest of four propellers running between Chicago and Collingwood, and intermediate ports, forming the tri-weekly "Collingwood Line;" and said to be excelled in strength and speed by none on the lakes. There was nothing of "princely magnificence" about its internal construction and appointments, but it was finished off and furnished with taste, and even elegance, and with an evident design to render it comfortable, convenient and pleasant, a good substitute for home; while the Captain, and his estimable lady and son, together with the Clerk, and all the employees down to the scullion in the kitchen (if the term is not objectionable) succeeded well in their aim (as events proved) of rendering the voyage a real pleasure to the voyageurs. Our company consisted of about thirty, with as many different motives for travel, among whom were several excursionists from St. Louis, also Miss CHILD, sister of "Nym Crinkle," whose communications we read with interest, and her lady companion—valuable accessions to our party.

During the evening—we started at 3 o'clock—we passed the the thriving "villages" of Ozaukee, Sheboygan and Manitowoc. In the first named place there is a handsome Court House, a Presbyterian, and a Methodist, and also a Catholic church, a good new School House, and several fine residences and business blocks.

Manitowoc has grown very rapidly within the past few years—is largely inhabited by Germans. They have two large school houses, one on each side of the river, and in one of which Mr. O. R. BACON presides as Principal, to the satisfaction of the friends of Education. He is from Waukesha.

Coming out on deck the following morning we discovered no land—nothing but an endless waste of ever restless waters as far as the eye could reach,—symbol of eternity; and what a thin partition divides us from eternity itself! How easy for the Power that imparted to those planks and bolts such strength and buoyancy to utterly destroy the same by fire or flood! Verily "he holdeth the sea in the hollow of his hand." "The winds and waves obey him!"

Thus we sailed, hour after hour, with nothing but the cool breeze and fleeting waves to mark our rapid progress, the warm, bright sun mounting yet higher above the Eastern horizon, and casting a yet warmer, brighter glow upon the laughing waves. Oft we stretched our vision to see if,

"Just before the shining shore we might almost discover"

But in vain, till afternoon, when a dark outline was seen defining "Sleeping Bear Point." Shortly a vast sandy plain was seen extending for miles back into the country—the reflected rays of the sun giving it a rich, warm appearance. To the North are the Manitous, with their banks rising to a height of two or three hundred feet above the water. To the right we passed several fine bays bordered with heavy timber, while on either side the land is of considerable height. The shore is ever varied and beautiful, while the distance from which they are seen "lends enchantment to the view." This part of the Peninsular State is very thinly inhabited.

Having on board two enterprising young men who were emigrating from Illinois to "Carp River" we made up to that port, which is about 130 miles west of south from Mackinac, and quite a ways, more or less, from any other known region. Found a shoaly, poor bay, but an excellent pier, a good sawmill, two stores, a hotel, and two billiard saloons. The tavern and stores are, of course, able to supply you with everything—excepting what you call for.

Immediately upon the boats' arrival, I sallied forth with an eccentric companion upon a voyage of discovery, as an hour and a half was occupied in "wooding up." Found an abundance of black sand, raspberries and blackberries. Eccentric friend led the van to the base of a pretty little mountain, when all at once he came running back like a very lackey. When I could overcome an involuntary fit of laughter, I anxiously inquired the cause of such an inglorious retreat, supposing he was pursued by nothing worse than a "big black bear," when he replied that a big rattlesnake met him at the length of his cane from him, with head erect ready for the fatal strike, so believing "discretion to be the better part of valor," he "stood not long upon the order of his going, but went immediately!" His appetite for berries, and his botanical, and geological enthusiasm having materially abated, we returned to "town," where we were told that no such species of animals existed in those parts. The remainder of my leisure time was profitably spent in paddling a light canoe up Carp River, taking a cool bath, catching fish, reading the Tribune, &c. The mails are brought semi-monthly from the South, by the Indians afoot. The river furnishing water-power for the mills, is the outlet of numerous beautiful lakes, abounding in excellent varieties of fish. Sleep and persistently sociable company having laid equal claims to my attentions, I close thus abruptly, and wish you good night.

COMMODORE.

PICKPOCKETS AT WORK.—An old gentleman named Goodwin who resides at Fox Lake, Wisconsin, had his pocket picked at the Great Western Railway depot last evening. He came in on the Michigan Central train and crossed the river on the Union to take the cars east. Hurrying forward with the crowd on the arrival of the boat at the wharf on the other side, he entered a rear car and passed through to the forward car before he could get a seat. When he got seated he discovered that his pocket-book was missing. It contained $25 in money, $300 in promissory notes, a deed of his farm in Wisconsin, and a mortgage running to himself. No clue could be obtained to the perpetrator of the act. His tickets, fortunately, were not taken.

[Another person, whose name we could not learn, was relieved of his wallet, obntaining $220—all the money he had—at the Central depot on Tuesday evening.—Detroit Free Press, Sept. 15th.

WHAT is that which shows others what it cannot see itself? A mirror.

From the Kansas Gold Mines—New and Rich Discoveries.

From the Kansas City Journal, September 6.

We had the satisfaction of meeting, on Saturday night, Capt. A. F. Garrison, one of the most substantial and intelligent citizens of this county, who has just returned from the Gold Country, which he left only nine days before.

Our inquiries were particularly in regard to the new South Park mines, on the head waters of the Arkansas and Rio Grande, and we give the exact account of Capt. Garrison, as we took it down at the time.

In the South Park, where the South Platte rises, the prospecting that has been done for the few days before Capt. Garrison left, the yield was from 5 to 75 cents to the pan, to the hand, where sluices were used. The diggings, so far as discovered, extend some ten miles along the streams, and are what is known as "gulch diggings," or washings from the mountain streams.

THE ARKANSAS AND RIO GRANDE MINES.

Over the rim of the basin, or park, from the above diggings, some 24 miles on the western slope, on the head waters of the Arkansas and Rio Grande rivers, are situated the richest discoveries yet made, the miners panning out as much as $1 25 to the pan of dirt. There are now about 1,000 men employed in these diggings, and in all localities on the head waters of these rivers, the same rich deposits seem to exist, all tending in a still farther direction south-west, toward the Colorado. Upon the surface, in all this extended region, the "color" is found, indicating beyond question the great richness of the mines now beginning to be developed. It is the opinion of the most experienced miners, that the western slope is the true golden locality of the Rocky Mountains.

Coal beds have also been found throughout this region, in all parts that have been prospected.

The South Park is on the summit of the Rocky Mountains, and like all others in that great range is perfectly level country, covered with blue grass, clover, and other mountain grasses, spread out for an immense area of country, like a meadow, intersected with streams of pure, limpid water, distilled and filtered from the eternal snows of the ranges surrounding. The sides of the mountain are well wooded, and covered with the "sarvis" or "June berry," and wild raspberries, where, Mr. Garrison says, a bucket full can be picked in an hour.

NEW QUARTZ VEINS AT GREGORY'S.

Within a few days previous to Capt. Garrison's departure, new discoveries of quartz veins had been made in Gregory's diggings. This is the hard flint quartz; the former workings have been in what is called "rotten quartz." The flint quartz are much the richest of the two. A specimen which Capt. Garrison had with him, intended for a breast pin, was the finest specimen we ever saw.—In these diggings, heretofore, on coming to hard quartz and parites, the miners have desisted, but on penetrating this formation three or four feet, small "pockets," like those of the California mines, have been discovered, which are some of them very rich as high as $50 to $75 being taken out of pocket to the pan. These pockets however are not found everywhere, but experience miners will understand the character of such diggings. As an aggregate, the Gregory mines are not yielding as much as formerly, owing to the fact that all except the hard quartz seem to be worked out, and having means of crushing, the yield has fallen off. One crusher, the first yet taken out, was at a few miles this side of Denver City.

YIELD OF RUSSELL'S MINES.

In Green Russell's gulch diggings, incredible quantities of gold had been raised within the last thirty days—the aggregate yield of the diggings being about $10,000 per day.

CLIMATE OF THE SOUTH PARK.

The season in this elevated region is very short—three months being about as long as can be made available with present modes of mining. Ice was formed one night in August, 1-4 of an inch thick. One thousand people will probably winter in the South Park on the heads of the Arkansas this winter.

LOCALITY OF THE NEW MINES.

The mines of the South Park and of the Arkansas and Rio Grande are from 100 to 150 miles south-west from Denver City, and all of them lie south of parallel 39 degrees latitude, being south of Pike's Peak, and in the vicinity of the celebrated Coocheto Pass, of Col. Fremont. They lie on a line about due west from the city of St. Louis, and about 25 miles south of a due west line from Kansas City.

They are precisely upon the great route Fremont, Beale and Gunnison explored—the Pacific Railroad from the mouth of the Kansas River through the Coochetopa Pass, and which can be found on any map of the country published since 1850.

AGRICULTURAL CAPACITY OF THE COUNTRY.

In regard to the agricultural capacity of the country in the vicinity of Denver City, Capt. Garrison says that the bottoms of the Platte and other streams, will produce vegetables and small grains, wheat, (spring) oats, barley, etc., abundantly, when irrigated, but the rains will not of themselves afford a certain of moisture to insure crops. He never saw finer vegetables than those now growing in the country. For an industrious man will be the most profitable business that can engage in, at least for a few seasons.

TERRITORY OR STATE.

The convention for the purpose of taking steps for the organization of a government for that country, and of which Capt. Garrison was the President, was divided between a State and Territorial organization. In order to meet the difficulty thus presented, a constitution for a new State was framed, as well as a plan for a Territorial government, which were to be submitted to the people, the first Monday of September (yesterday) for the decision, and upon the vote cast will depend the form in which their application will be made to Congress.

The Maine Election—Complete Republican Victory.

"Dirigo"—"I lead," is the motto in the coat-of-arms of MAINE. As she leads, in the rest of the Union follow. Her election yesterday resulted in a sweeping Republican triumph. Last year she polled a heavy vote electing the Republican Governor, Congressmen, and Legislature, leaving apparently room for improvement. Yet she has imparted on it this year by recording a still more emphatic verdict in favor of Freedom.

Governor Morrill's majority in about two-thirds the State is thirteen hundred more than in the same localities last year. In the entire State he will have nearly if not quite 10,000 majority. The Legislature will be Republican in both branches.

Five New England States have now held elections this year. Before they occurred, the Democrats confidently predicted that the Republican movement had reached its climax there first, and that there first would begin the re-action against it. The reverse proves to be the fact. Instead of diminishing, the strength of the Republican party is increasing all over New England—an effective proof that it uses its power wisely, and that its principles have taken a deep hold on the heart of the people.—Albany Journal.

CRICKET.—We alluded a day or two ago, to the Great International Cricket Match which is soon to come off under the auspices of the St. George's Club of this city. We are now enabled to publish the names of the "twenty-two" who have been selected to contend with the famous "English players" now on their way to this country:

A. C. Barclay, Philad.,	A. Marsh, New York,
Robert Bage, New York,	W. C. J. Morgan, Philad.,
Wm. Comery, Conn.,	W. Newhall, do
W. Crossley, New York,	J. W. Scarlett, New York
A. H. Gibbes, do	T. Senior, Philad.,
H. Hollis, Newark,	H. Sharp, New York,
W. Hammond, Philad.,	H. Walker, do
G. Head, Chicago,	J. T. Walker, do
J. Hingham, New York,	W. Wiby, do
J. C. Lang, do	Sand. Wright, do
H. Lilywhite, do	H. Wright, do

Names all familiar to those who take an interest in the "manly game." They have, we are informed, been selected with great reference to the various qualities as Bowlers, Batsmen, and fine Fielders, and it will be noticed they are from all parts of the country. Mr. Wheatcraft, of Newark, has been selected to perform the responsible duties of Umpire.

The St. George's Club are using every effort to accommodate the public, and to make this match a decided success.—N. Y. Courier & Enquirer, Sept. 14.

☞ ANOTHER PITTSBURGHER TESTIFIES to the wonderful curative powers of Boerhave's Holland Bitters.

MR. JACOB WHITE, Third street, below Market, says: "For a year past I have been afflicted very seriously with dyspepsia, so much so that my stomach refused to retain anything; I have tried almost every remedy, and the regimen of several physicians, but without alleviation, until I began the use of Boerhave's Holland Bitters, and have now found relief almost amounting to a cure. I found it efficacious in removing the extreme debility occasioned by this disease, and generally as a tonic it has few equals and no superior."

CAUTION!—Beware of imposition. See that the name of Benjamin Page, Jr. & Co., sole proprietors Pittsburgh, Pa., is on the label of every bottle.

Dr. Duponco's Golden Periodical Pills

FOR FEMALES.

THE COMBINATION OF INGREDIENTS in Dr. Duponco's Golden Pills are perfectly harmless. They have been used in the private practice of old Dr. Duponco for over thirty years, and thousands of ladies can testify to their great and never failing success in almost every case, in correcting irregularities, relieving painful and distressing menstruation, particularly at the change of life. From five to ten pills will cure that common yet dreadful complaints, the Whites. Nearly every lady in the land suffers from that complaint. The above pill has permanently cured thousands, and will cure you if you use them. They cannot harm you, on the contrary, they remove all obstructions, restore nature to its proper channel, and invigorate the whole system. Ladies whose health will not permit an increase of family, will find these pills a successful preventative. Pregnant Females, or those supposing themselves so, are cautioned against using these pills while pregnant, as the proprietor assumes no responsibility after the above admonition although their mildness would prevent any mischief to the health—otherwise; these pills are recommended. Full and explicit directions accompany each box. Price $1,00 per box. H. BOSWORTH & SONS,

A SABBATH NIGHT.

I love this holy time. The forest leaves
Beneath the noiseless dews are bending low,
And faintly glowing in the starlight pale,
As if the visions that come o'er their sleep,
Were of the Spirit land. The mountain pine
Has hushed its melancholy music now.
The weary winds are slumbering in the heavens,
Or keeping sacred vigils on the cloud
Far glimmering in the sunset—all is still,
Save that the distant waves are murmuring low,
Like a lost angel mourning his sad lot
Of exile from the blessed.

It is sweet,
At such an hour, to wander out beneath
The eternal sky, to gaze into its depths,
To picture those bright eyes of every star,
To listen to the mystic songs that seem
To Fancy's ear to wander down to earth
From the far gates of Eden, and to feel
The deep and gentle spirit that pervades
The blessed air, sink like a holy spell
Upon life's troubled waters.

Hark! the bell
Tolls out the midnight hour! How glorious
And yet how lonely is the face of things
At this still hour of musing. Vale and hill,
And plain and stream, and lake and ancient wood,
Clad in the deepest and holiest religion rests
Upon them like a mantle. O, I love,
On eves like this, to kneel in solitude
At Nature's shrine. The gentle dews that bathe
My brow, seem God's own baptism, and each voice
That speaks in mystic eloquence from sky,
And air, and earth, and ocean, calls the soul
To mingle with the holiness of heaven.

Religious Miscellany.

NATIVE CHRISTIANS IN CEYLON.—A correspondent of the London Watchman, writing from Ceylon, speaks of the utility of Missionary labor and the liberality of native converts thus:

It has been my privilege to visit Mission stations in various parts of the world, but I do not recollect on any occasion so fully realizing the utility of Missionary labor, as I did in that chapel at Moratto, towards the erection of which the native inhabitants, though the poorer class, had contributed about three hundred pounds. I did not witness and instance of indecorum in dress, manner or behavior, though the congregation was composed entirely of natives, not a single European except Missionaries and ourselves being present. The females were modestly attired in short muslin jackets of snowy white, with skirts of English manufacture, the difference of rank being apparent by the greater or less profusion of jewelry worn on their necks and arms, and by the gold and silver ornaments which adorned their hair.

I believed in Moratta alone there were upwards of 360 members of the Society, and interesting anecdotes were related to us by the native minister, Peter de Zylva, illustrative of their zeal and liberality. Of one poor family whom we called upon, the father and his two sons were engaged to give five pounds, provided they could have twelve months in which to pay it. The daughter, a young girl, offered to give two, but as she had no visible means of obtaining money, the minister scrupled to place her name on the list of contributors; she burst into tears and said, "Oh, sir, I must give two pounds." "But," replied he, "how can you, Cristina ?"—"Oh," said she, "I will get a pig and feed it, and that will sell for ten dollars; and I will do needle work, for which I will get something; and I will extract the oil from cocoanuts and sell it, and if you will give me five months longer, I am sure I can raise two pounds." He left her, somewhat incredulous, but she set about the work in earnest, raised the sum within the stipulated time, and then died in peace. Everywhere the fields are ripe unto the harvest, but the laborers are few.

DOES THE OBSERVANCE OF THE SABBATH PROLONG LIFE?—According to the observations of M. Gutterz, the duration of life among the Jews is considerably longer than with Christians; even in infancy, the morality of the former is relatively less than among the latter. From his calculations, it results that the average of length of life is, for Israelites, 46.5 years; for Germans, 26.7; for the Gronts, 26½; for the Austrians, 27.5.—Gutterz attributes the superiority on the part of the Jews, in different climates, entirely to the influence of race, and suggests the advantage of paying attention to the ethnographic element in the etimology of disease.

Is not this owing in part to the fact that the Jews are generally compelled to have one day of pastoral, or total physical rest? They attend to their own religious services on Saturday, and though the Christian Sabbath is used as a secular day by many of them, still they are not able to be immersed so completely in business on that day as on business days, and while a few attend to trade on that day, a majority use it as a day of recreation.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS.—A correspondent writing from San Antonio, August 7, says: Our city, far-west—is on the same line with the city of Mexico. It is the centre of a great Roman Catholic influence; our native Mexican population being met by the foreign emigration from European countries. They have two large church edifices, a college, and a convent. The number of priests, monks and nuns is unknown to Protestants. St. Mark's church (Episcopal) have just contracted for a medium sized church, to be tastefully finished. The Trustees have secured a roomy and picturesque building lot, which will be convenient through all futurutime. The foundations are now being laid. This church, under the ministership of the Rev. L. I. Jones, is highly prosperous.

The Presbyterian church, under the care of the Rev. R. F. Bunting, is also building. The Methodist church, under the ministry of the Rev. Jesse Boring, D. D, has the only finished Protestant church in the city, and that only seats about 250. I believe some of the "salt of the earth" are here, some who fervently who fervently pray "Thy kingdom come," "O Lord revive thy work." But there are many, even of professing Christians, who, like the Virgins, seems spiritually "slumbering and sleeping," judging from their conformity to the sin loving world.

Our Standing Army.

The Secretary of War has, in accordance with law, made an abstract of the returns of the Militia of the several States. The aggregates are as follows:

Maine	73,562	Louisiana	26,732
New Hampshire	38,754	Mississippi	25,068
Vermont	23,555	Tennessee	71,252
Massachusetts	158,849	Kentucky	85,555
Rhode Island	16,055	Ohio	176,455
Connecticut	91,430	Michigan	50,000
New York	850,000	Indiana	95,973
New Jersey	81,984	Illinois	255,420
Pennsylvania	165,000	Wisconsin	51,221
Delaware	9,229	Iowa
Maryland	46,884	Missouri	115,035
North Carolina	70,345	California	207,730
South Carolina	36,552	Arkansas	35,054
Virginia	130,000	California	207,730
Georgia	88,669	Minnesota	9,005
Florida	12,122	Utah Territory	2,000
Alabama	76,502	District of Columbia	8,201

These figures show a total of 2,766,726, of which about 1,700,000 are infantry, 20,000 cavalry, 12,000 artillery, and 34,000 riflemen. Probably these figures are more familiar to Europeans than Americans. They count our available force, and base a proportionate degree of respect for us upon it, while we ourselves hardly give it a thought.

No other nation has so vast and effective an Army as this would be in case of need.—It is practically useless for foreign invasion, or for governmental tyranny, but for the defence it is invincible. It lacks discipline and drill, but in this respect it is no different from the new levies which compose the majority of every army in the time of war.—The mass of the men who fought at Magenta and Solferino were no better disciplined two years ago. A few weeks would suffice to put any portion of it in readiness for service in the field. It has two important advantages over European levies, to begin with. One is that nearly every man in it is already more or less familiar with the use of fire-arms, while in Europe they are carefully kept from the hands of the people. The other is that there are no disaffected men in it. Every man feels that the cause of his country is his own. No other Army in the world but has some soldiers who would willingly desert or betray the flag they serve under.

All other Armies are both a terror and a burden to the people that employ them, even in time of Peace. The best of them are the French, the Prussian, the English and the Russian. The French Corps d' Armee is an engine to crush popular action. The Prussian Landwehr is a cumbrous machine, powerful, but inflicting as much annoyance on its own people as on the enemy. The English Army is equivalent to a perpetual hole in every Englishman's pocket. The Russian Army, so far as the privates are concerned, is only a mitigated form of serfdom. Our Militia would be quite as effective as any of these to defend our homes, and meanwhile in the time of peace it costs comparatively nothing, keeps no man from his work or family, and never interferes in public affairs, except to maintain order.—Albany Journal.

Money Matters.

The banks found a good demand for all the exchange they could raise to-day, at the current price, 1 ℘ cent. prem., and indeed the disposition was to confine accommodations to the wants of their customers. This stringency, however, will not last, for the heavy shipments of produce recently made will soon change the balance in our favor. As for currency, the remarks we made yesterday are applicable to-day. The banks continue to supply their produce-buying customers, and this is about all they are doing at present. Outside rates, are, as usual, 1 to 2 ℘ cent a month. Gold 1 ℘ cent.

The Chicago Press & Tribune of this morning, says:

Money is closer. Some bankers report it very close. The fact is, business of all kinds, as compared with months past, has become decidedly active, and the demands upon our bankers are immense. Outside the banking very little is doing at nominal figures, but with the wants and responsibility of borrowers.

The exchange market is becoming closer every day. The banks seem to have considerable difficulty to meet the demands of customers, and to-day some have been selling at 1/2@¾ premium, while others have kept it nominally at ½. There is very little to be had on any terms. The stringency and increased rates are regarded as temporary, as shipments must, if anything, be increased between this and the last few months.

The market for wheat was quite active to-day, and prices well sustained at yesterday's decline, notwithstanding the increase in receipts and unfavorable tone of New York and Buffalo reports. Extra club ruled at 75@77c, No. 1 72@73c, and No. 2 70@72c, with large sales. In the afternoon there was less buoyancy than in the morning, buyers looking for a still further decline; but sellers did not seem inclined to accede, and the market closed dull, with a downward tendency.

There were no sales of flour, and none could probably be made except at a decline from yesterday's quotations.

Not much doing in other articles. Oats sold at 27@28c delivered, and were less firm. Corn scarce. Rye ditto. Barley sold at the range of 60 to 75c for good to prime samples. Highwines firm, 21dds steady. Eggs not so plenty as a few days ago and worth 8c. Good butter scarce, selling readily at 15@16c. Fruit in great abundance and selling cheap. Freights firm and unchanged.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 14th.—Receipts: 2,028 bbls flour, 362 bus corn, 4,110 bus wheat, 2,270 bus oats, 1,056 bus barley.

FLOUR—The market continues dull and the demand local. Superfine could be sold to a fair extent at $4,80, but rate is below the views of holders. The sales are confined to 450 bbls, chiefly extra, at $4,50@5; superfine sold at $4,50.

WHISKEY—The demand continues good and prices steady; sales of 1,500 bbls at 23½@23¾c—the latter rate for wagon.

PROVISIONS—We have no essential change to note in the market. The demand has been in moderate, and the sales limited. Mess pork firm; quiet. The sales were 50 bbls bacon sides at 9¾c; 20 do at 9¾; 10 do shoulders at 7 5-16c, and 70 do shoulders and sides on private terms.

GROCERIES—A steady market and fair demand; sales 50 bbls sugar at 7@7½c, and 100 bags coffee at 12c.

WHEAT—There is a good demand for the finer grades and prices are firm. The lower grades are in moderate request, and prices are unchanged. Sales 1,000 bus prime white at $1,07; 500 do at $1,08; 1,000 do good do at $1,05; 200 do do at $1,04; 500 do prime red at $1, and 500 do fair do at 96c.

CORN—The market is steady and prices are unchanged; sales 2,000 bus of new at 52c, and 300 delivered at 52½.

RYE—A fair demand and the market is firm at 73@74c. A sale of 200 bus do at 70c.

BARLEY—The receipts continue very light, which has caused much firmness in prices, and buyers freely offering 70c for prime new, without leading to any business of consequence. Holders are generally asking 75c; sales 150 bus prime fall at 70c, and 200 do do at 72c.

OATS—The market continues dull and drooping; sales 1,000 bus at 37½c; 500 do at 37c, and 50 do at 36c.

NEW YORK HIDE MARKET.—Business is yet but moderately active. Upon most kinds of dry hides importers have advanced prices about 2c, and the season for best is near. Dealers, however, manifest but little anxiety to purchase at present rates. Hence the sales taking place are mostly for small lots to answer immediate requirements.

We have one novel feature to notice in the hide market of the present week, that of an advance in prices upon a dull market, while purchasers are few, the stock of hides in both first and second hands very large, and holders anxiously awaiting an opportunity to make sales, and this while the leather market is dull, and prices ruling proportionately too low for the rates demanded for the raw material.

In green-salted hides there is a rather better feeling, and purchases are more freely made. For East India stock there is but very little inquiry at present.—Shoe and Leather Reporter.

CASH SYSTEM.

HAVING ADOPTED THE CASH SYSTEM for the past year, seeing its advantages, particularly to our customers, we have concluded to continue selling our goods for Cash the coming year. We will offer to large purchasers, and to customers, at such prices that we know are better than they can do elsewhere, taking quality into consideration.

We are confident the CASH SYSTEM is the only true one, and shall make increased efforts to do business on that basis, and no house can successfully compete with us.

RETAIL DEPARTMENT.

To this Department, we call the especial attention of all in the city, country, and places tributary to Milwaukee, as possessing advantages to any other in the West. Our Warerooms are the largest and most numerous, and quality of the goods, superior to that which you generally find in Hardware Stores.

Please call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere, and we will endeavour to please you, both in prices and goods. TERMS CASH.

TINNERS' STOCK.

We keep constantly on hand a fine stock of TIN PLATE, COPPER, ZINC, WIRE, SHEET IRON, and everything used by Tinners. Our prices are low, and we are always ready to compete with any other place in CHICAGO NOT EXCEPTED. Please send in your orders with the cash, and the goods will be shipped without delay. apr15

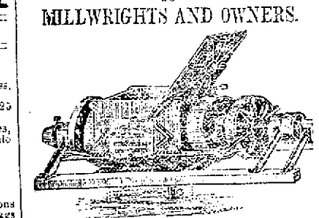
IMPORTANT NOTICE

—TO—

MILLWRIGHTS AND OWNERS.



The Excelsior Water Wheel Co.

ARE MANUFACTURING A NEW KIND of Water Wheel, patented 18th May, and 14th December, 1858, by J. H. Fairchild, of Vermont. It involves an entirely new principle of construction, and of controlling the water, by which we obtain a greater maximum power than is afforded by any other wheel now in use. Some of the advantages of this wheel are:

1st. We obtain the ENTIRE WEIGHT of the water, and have the advantage of the full head and fall, from water to water.

2d. It surpasses all other wheels in velocity and power.

3d. It is perfectly under the control of the workman, either when used to drive a large or small amount of machinery, by introducing its motion, since it depends upon the WEIGHT of the column of water produced by the difference in the level of the Head Water and Low the Wheel, which always remains about the same.

4th. It costs less to erect than any other wheel in general use, and is less liable to get out of the way, and requires no repairs.

5th. The wear is very durable, being made of iron, and can be set in any situation, near the surface of the water, and is not affected by frost.

6th. The wheel is very compact, and is attached to saw Mills, Grist Mills, and machinery of all kinds, with LESS expense than any other wheel.

The wheel is warranted to give satisfaction in all cases where used in accordance with directions.

Together with the advantages above stated, we are ready to warrant the wheel to possess a power equal to the following figures, for each foot fall of water:

Inch wheel		52,100 horse-power.
10¾	"	76,100
12	"	104,000
13	"	131,100
13¾	"	135,100
15	"	165,100
16½	"	208,100
18	"	253,100
19	"	265,100
20	"	283,100
21	"	300,100
24	"	425,100
28	"	555,100
30	"	655,100

Wheels of the above sizes made to order to power-ordinary per minute. When sold, are complete with gate, pully and shaft, so that the purchaser has only to place them in position, which can be done with less expense than any other wheel.

The Company have competent workmen, who will put them in operation, and guarantee satisfaction, on reasonable rates. The Wheels can be afforded at a less price than any other wheel in the market.

W. B. SPENCER, Sec'y. Excy, N. Y.

CERTIFICATES.

MIDDLETOWN, Ct., Dec. 1, 1858.

Dear Sir—In answer to your favor asking my opinion of the Excelsior Water Wheel, I would say that I put in one factory for me, I take great pleasure in stating that it has exceeded my expectations. I took out a gate, and replaced it with one of "Fairchild's Patent" 15 inch Wheels, and it gives more power, with no greater quantity of water, and the motion is as steady as that of a steam engine. It has also the advantage of being very cheap and durable.

I have two of the same kind in my mill, and carries with equal regularity and steadiness a greater or less amount of machinery. Such as is necessary for the manufacturing of Paper. I would recommend them to any one wishing to get a first class wheel. Any one interested in Water Wheels will be convinced of its superiority (however skeptical) if he will take the trouble of calling at my factory and see its performance.

I am, yours, respectfully,
EDWARD SAVAGE.

Mr. Savage writes me again under date of Jan. 6th 1859. The Wheel continues to perform entirely well, and I am more than ever pleased with it. It has not caused me a moment's delay since you were here.

SKELTON, Franklin Co., Vt., June 29, 1858.

Dear Sir—I have one of Mr. Fairchild's wheels in operation at my Machine Shop, which I can run from 3 to 4 months in the year with the same quantity of water, possessing all the advantages which are claimed for it. The wheel which I am using is twelve inch, on a 16 inch stem. It circles 300 times and runs more steadily than the twelve feet Breast Wheel, which I have been before used, requiring less water under it. It is also less in bend and first.

H. CARLISLE.

Many other testimonials from heavy eastern manufactories may be seen at my office. Eight of the above described wheels are in successful operation in this State, and where they will at all times be kept on hand to suit the demand. An 18 inch wheel can be seen in operation in my Mill and Machinery necessary for the manufacture of Sash, Doors and Blinds at the manufactory of M. Y. Kline, Esq., State Hospital, Milwaukee, where we shall be glad to be called to call and examine it under practical test, and a motion of two revolutions per minute.
